

Midlands-based S Jones Containers to host seminar at The Movers and Storers Show

S Jones Containers is preparing to host a seminar at The Movers and Storers Show at NAEC Stoneleigh, Warwickshire in November, drawing on expertise gained through StoragePro, its dedicated service for self-storage operators.

The Walsall-based family-owned business has become a market leader in the self-storage industry, particularly across the Midlands where its convenient location reduces transport costs for operators.

Taking place on the first day of the Show on the 17th November, the seminar will be hosted by S Jones Containers' Head of Sales, Glen Wills, and Business Development Manager, Laura Armitt, and will focus on how StoragePro offers new and growing self-storage operators support at every stage. The session will also cover the advantages of buying or hiring shipping containers from S Jones Containers, and attendees will have the chance to discuss specific site, budget or growth plans with the team directly.

This year marks the first-year S Jones Containers is exhibiting at The Movers and Storers Show, with its stand comprising a 20 ft multi-store container configured into three separate storage areas to highlight adaptability, plus a 20 ft topper unit modified to showcase a variety of storage options including a central walkway, a personnel door and a roller shutter. The topper unit can be accessed via a staircase, and tables and chairs will be available on the main stand for any visitors wishing to discuss S Jones Containers' services including StoragePro, Sales, Hire and Finance options with its friendly team.

Glen Wills, Head of Sales at S Jones Containers commented: "With over 40 years' experience of running our own self-storage sites as well as providing services to operators, we're uniquely placed to share knowledge gained from working in the industry, not just selling into it. From site consultancy to finance options and revenue projections, we're here to guide operators through every stage of their journey.

“We’re delighted to be exhibiting at The Movers and Storers Show for the first time as well as hosting a seminar, and we look forward to meeting current and prospective self-storage operators from across the Midlands and beyond. We’re also looking forward to forging new relationships with removals and logistics businesses who require a flexible and cost-effective storage solutions partner.”

S Jones Containers will be exhibiting on Stand D4 throughout The Movers and Storers Show on Tuesday 17th and Wednesday 18th November.

For more information about StoragePro, please visit: <https://www.sjonescontainers.co.uk/storage-pro/>